

Laughter in the night

The sun is going down as the day begins to fade.
Time means nothing now as I sit here in the shade.
Yesterday was something else, another day and time
As the year it turned around.

People were walking by with a mind in a good state
They were dressed to kill on their way to celebrate
I heard music playing everywhere and all around
As the year it turned around

Laughter in the night. As I watched the fading light. Laughter in the night.

Nick and Johan did raise their glasses for a song
So Anna sang for them a song in a foreign tongue
And Jessica told tales 'bout royalties and hotel drinks
On the day the year it turned around

And I watched as I was sitting on the ground
When Sam and Leo they did turn the stage around.
And then the main act sang a song 'bout biking up a hill
On the day the year did turn around.

Laughter in the night. As I watched the fading light. Laughter in the night.

Laughter in the night. And the myths did came to life Laughter in the night